Body of Cover Letter
The body of your cover letter lets the employer know what position you are applying for, why the employer should select you for an interview, and how you will follow-up.

I’m applying for the Junior Full Stack Developer role. I’ve always had a passion for coding, in particular a passion for creating something that people can use every day. I have developed a few small projects of my own and I always strive to learn new things and get better at them. I am always full of new ideas and looking for new solutions that could help solve problems and help the company grow.

First Paragraph
The first paragraph of your letter should include information on why you are writing. Mention the position you are applying for and where you found the job listing. Include the name of a mutual contact, if you have one.

Middle Paragraph(s)
The next section of your cover letter should describe what you have to offer the employer. Mention specifically how your qualifications match the job you are applying for. Remember, you are interpreting your resume, not repeating it.

Final Paragraph
Conclude your cover letter by thanking the employer for considering you for the position. Include information on how you will follow-up.
